Whereas the State of Illinois hath contracted a debt exceeding ten millions of dollars, the annual interest upon which will amount to more than six hundred thousand dollars: and whereas an annual revenue from all sources, notwithstanding the present increased rate of taxation, will not exceed two hundred thousand dollars: and whereas an annual deficit of above four hundred thousand dollars will thus be created, exclusive of the amount required to defray the ordinary expenses of the State Government: and whereas an increase of the present taxes on the people of this State, sufficient to supply this deficit, would be an oppressive and intolerable exaction: and whereas the annual revenue of the United States, exclusive of the sales of public lands, exceed the sum of twenty-five millions of dollars: and whereas this amount is more than is necessary for an economical administration of the Federal Government: and whereas the Congress of the United States has already shown a willingness to distribute the proceeds of the sales of public lands among the several States: and whereas the apportionment of this surplus revenue among the several States, according to the ratio of representation, would in the words of President Jackson, in his first annual message to Congress "be the most safe, just, and federal disposition," which could be made thereof:

Therefore, in order to secure economy in the expenditure of the Federal Government, and at the same time to protect the people of this State from oppressive and ruinous taxation:

You are assembled in your Legislative capacity in conformity to my Proclamation of 19th October last, and it now becomes my duty to lay before you briefly the principal reasons for which you have been convened.

Our system of Internal Improvements presents a subject of deep and absorbing interest in which the destiny of the State is involved, and when compared with its prospects and resources, is truly alarming. The public credit has been, and continues to be, extended to exhaustion, with a view of increasing the enormous debt which has been incurred. The vast amount which has been and is daily expending upon costly, and at present, unnecessary work, calls loudly for immediate Legislative interposition.

The general disapprobation of the people to the extent of the system, and to the further continuance of the extravagant expenditures under the plan of operations which has been pursued, furnishes ample cause for convening you.

The following is a brief statement of the present financial condition of the State.

The amount of canal lands remaining unsold, which, as will be perceived, I have placed under the head of unavailable resources, is estimated to be equal to the remaining cost of the canal on its completion.

From this cursory view of the present condition of our State, the propriety of my recent proclamation, and the weighty considerations which induced it, cannot but be apparent. Perhaps no former period of our political history presents questions of more absorbing interest, or so likely to have such an important bearing on our future destiny.

Within the last few years, the spirit of speculation—the natural offspring of an inflated paper circulating medium, has swept over the country. Millions, unaware of its fatal tendency, partook largely of its morbid influence, and wildly rushed into folly and extravagance. Forgetting the real source of wealth—the actual products of the country, they embarked in the most visionary schemes, and became a consuming instead of a producing people. If loans could be obtained for the prosecution of a favorite enterprise, they were willing to leave time to provide for the liquidation of debts incurred, without any regard to existing, and I may add, prospective resources. Not only individuals, but representative bodies, were allured from the paths of prudence and economy by the overweening seduction of this popular, but fatal delusion. At this critical and most important crisis, a bill was introduced into the Legislature, providing for a general system of Internal Improvements by the construction of nearly thirteen hundred miles of railroads and the improvement of various rivers, and such was the zeal with which it was urged, and so numerous and powerful were its friends, that it passed through both Houses by large majorities. No fear seemed to be entertained by its advocates but that the ability and resources of the State would prove equal to the accomplishment of such a herculean task, and they pointed with pride and exultation to that high rank in the scale of wealth to which, as they alledged, the measure would finally elevate us.

As for myself, at the time I entered upon the station I now occupy, I had no doubts that the system was larger than our means could sustain, but being in favor of a system owned exclusively by the State, I only expressed my disapprobation of its extent, and my preference for the construction of the most important work first; for at that period, as at present, the amount expended under the existing plan of operations, deeply involved our character and credit, and seemed to forbid its abandonment. The vast debt, however, already incurred, the interest of which must be promptly paid, and the deranged state of the monetary affairs of this and other countries, making the negotiations of loans on acceptable terms exceedingly difficult, if not impracticable, interpose insurmountable obstacles to the successful prosecution of the system as now authorized by law. If additional testimony is wanting of the absolute necessity of its speedy reduction, and a more judicious application of our expenditures, it is to be found in the almost universal opposition of the people to the extent of the works and the manner in which they are prosecuted, partially expressed through the medium of public meetings held in various counties, the proceedings of which have been addressed to me in my official capacity.

I am aware that the System is the result of mutual concession and compromise, and that its advantages were to be dispensed as equally as possible throughout the State, by the construction of improvements in almost every county, and appropriating to those in which no improvements were to be made, $200,000 in lieu thereof.

Not adhering, however, to these principles of compromise, extravagant as they appear, it seems to have been the settled determination of subsequent legislation, not only to carry out the original System, but actually to enlarge it nearly $1,000,000. The fatal tendency of this course, and the ruinous policy of simultaneously commencing all the works, and constructing them in detached parcels, thus making the completion of the most important depend upon the completion of the whole, is alike at variance with the principles of sound economy, destructive to the interests of the State, and to the System in all its parts. Absolute necessity, as well as the dictates of wisdom and prudence, demand at your hands such enactments as will remedy these evils, and ensure a judicious application of all future expenditures. I would, therefore, most earnestly recommend the concentration of all future labor and expenditures upon the most useful and promising road and to the improvement of such of the larger class of rivers, as may be susceptible of steamboat navigation, and to suspend operations and expenditures upon all others, at least until those are completed. All experience teaches that it requires a large amount of transportation to render railroads and canals productive, and this can only be expected in populous countries, and between large commercial depots.

In a country like our own, unsurpassed for fertility—abounding with natural advantages, and inexhaustible resources—intersected and almost surrounded with natural navigation—with a surface admirably adapted to the construction of Internal Improvements, a judicious System, excluding all works which would not probably yield a revenue equal to the interest accruing on the cost of their construction, and the expenses necessary to keep them in repair, would aid in the development of those resources, furnish facilities to the industry and enterprise of the people, promote the interests, and advance the rapidly increasing population of the country, and ultimately ensure the construction of such additional works as the practical wants of the community and the available means of the State might justify. By the adoption of such a system of operation, I may repeat, the completion of one road, would facilitate the construction of others, and thus all, so far as necessity may call for, be finally accomplished without exhausting or crippling the resources of the State; the interest of the money expended would thus cease to be burthensome to the people, after the completion of the works to which it had been applied.

I am aware that objections may be urged against the adoption of the proposed modification, as some may be found unwilling to suspend their favorite work. Whatever may have been the notions which influenced previous legislation upon this important subject, I cannot conceive it possible that so selfish a policy, at a juncture so critical as the present, will be brought into collision with the paramount interests of the State. Adherence to such suicidal measures, would only tend to endanger and destroy those improvements, which, if completed, would be the most useful and profitable, while it could not possibly coerce the completion of expensive and unnecessary works. The great magnitude of the subject, and the vastness of the interests involved, in which all the citizens of the State so deeply participate, induces me to invoke, and with implicit confidence, rely, upon your united wisdom in maturing and adopting such measures of reform as may best promote and subserve the public welfare.

Not having been furnished with the reports of the Board of Public Works, I am unable to lay before you the progress made in the manner of proceeding with, and the amount of disbursements upon our System of Internal Improvements, further than a statement furnished me by the Secretary of the Board of Fund Commissioners, which is herewith transmitted, marked A.

On the 4th of November last, Messrs. Rawlings and Oakley, two of the Fund Commissioners, apprised me by letter of that date, that they had contracted with Messrs. Wright & Co. of London, for the delivery of State bonds to the amount of $4,000,000, $500,000 of which has to be paid in railroad iron, and $250,000 more to be drawn for on the delivery of the bonds. They also informed me that they had constituted the said company agents for the State for the sale of the residue of the bonds, and that the whole transaction comprised an indivisible contract, and requested me to execute the bonds in accordance with the same. Having some doubts as to the character of the negotiation, and being apprehensive that the interest of the State would be likely to suffer by throwing such an amount of our stock into the London market, in the present deranged state of financial affairs, I hesitated to sign bonds to the amount of $4,000,000, although I was imperatively required to do so, by law. I executed, however, bonds to the amount of $750,000, absolutely disposed of, and informed the Commissioners they were ready for delivery, urging, at the same time the propriety of withholding the residue of $3,250,000, subject to legislative action. But being informed by the Commissioners that less than $1,500,000 would not secure the contract, I finally, on their urgent solicitation, executed bonds to that amount, the Commissioners consenting that the residue might remain subject to your action.

You are not unaware, gentlemen, that great distress, disappointment, and loss have been incurred by contractors on various works, for the want of prompt payment of estimates on the part of the Commissioners. Why these estimates have not been discharged, I am unable, from any means of information in my possession, to determine. In view, however, of the fact that in some instances they have not been paid as they became due, and that in all probability, some of them still remain unsatisfied, I would respectfully and earnestly recommend an investigation of the accounts and proceedings of the Board of Public Works, and the conduct of all officers and agents connected with the System.

According to a statement of the Acting Commissioner of the Canal Board, the expenditures upon that work, inclusive of contracts and contingent expenses, up to the first of October, 1839, amount to the sum of $2,468,616 38. In addition to this, the amount payable to contractors, exclusive of contingent expenses on the first day of December, will not probably, vary much from $150,000. The probable additional cost of the Canal will be $5,500,000, making the aggregate cost of that work, when completed, $8,118,616 38. The amount realized from the sale of town lots, inclusive of sales made in 1836, and up to the present time, is $486,448 75. The amount of sales of town lots and miscellaneous sales of wood and timber to contractors, inclusive of those made in 1836, and up to the present time, is $1,419,727 50, and the amount of bills receivable up to the present date, is $1,047,654. Of this sum, $847,470 75 was forfeited. The purchasers, however, of the Canal property have the right, under an act passed by the Legislature at its last session, to cancel their notes by the execution of new obligations payable within twenty years, with six per cent. interest, per annum, on the amount due. The amount of unsold Canal Lands, as I before remarked, is 270,182 acres, making the estimated amount of Canal property (assuming said land to be worth $5,500,000,) $7,034,102 35, leaving a balance against the Canal of only $1,084,513 63, the greater part of which, I am persuaded, can be realized from contingent resources.

The failure to negotiate loans for the prosecution of this work, aside from the derangement of the financial affairs of this country and Europe, is in a great manner attributable to that provision in the law rendering the payments of interest annually. The interest accruing on all other bonds issued by the State, and as far as I am advised, by all our sister States, is stipulated to be paid semi-annually or quarterly, which of course gives them the precedence in the market. It would, therefore, seem indispensable that the Canal Stock should be placed, in this respect, upon an equality with other stocks issued for similar purposes.

A loan of $1,000,000 effected by Gov. Reynolds and Gen. Rawlings in April last, from the U. States Bank, payable in instalments of $100,000 per month, for ten successive months, was obtained upon very unfavorable terms.

By the stipulations of this contract, I was compelled to incur great expense and hazard to the State in the transportation of the instalments from Philadelphia to Chicago as they became due. For more full information, however, upon this subject, a copy of the contract, together with the copy of one entered into with Mr. John DeLafayette of the City of New York, for the sale of $300,000 of State Bonds, (being the amount loaned to the Canal Fund out of the Internal Improvement Fund under an act approved January 21st, A. D. 1839) are herewith transmitted, marked "B."

On the first day of June last, a deficit of $208,000 had accrued against the Canal Fund. The expenses upon that work from the 1st. day of May, until the first day of August inclusive, not varying much from $150,000 per month, exceeded the monthly instalments due from the United States Bank, about $50,000. To supply this deficit, I placed in the hands of Gen. Thornton, $500,000 of State Bonds, to be sold by him at Chicago; $100,000 of which he has sold at a premium of one per cent., but not finding a market for the residue, an arrangement was entered into by him, with the State Bank of Illinois, in the month of July last, to transfer to that Bank the remaining seven instalments of $100,000 each as they become due from the United States Bank to the Canal Fund, to which I assented. By this negotiation, the State Bank agreed to increase the instalments so as to avoid a suspension of operations upon a port; on, if not all the work on the Canal, thus saving an immense sacrifice to the contractors, and loss to the State, as well as the consequent risk and expense attending the transportation of the instalments from Philadelphia to Chicago. The terms of this arrangement, also are transmitted, marked "C."

On the 18th day of September last, Gov. Reynolds entered into an arrangement with the State Bank of Illinois for the additional sale of $1,000,000 of Canal Stock, by which he agreed to pay the accruing interest semi-annually, at the rate of six per cent., per annum; and on the 19th of the same month, he contracted with Anson H. Bangs, agent on behalf of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Onondaga, located at Fayetteville, in the State of New York, for the sale of $500,000 more, and agreed that the accruing interest thereon should be paid quarterly. Both of these contracts remain open for your inspection and ultimate decision, (having been declined by me on the ground of legal objections) and are herewith transmitted marked "D."

All negotiations for the sale of Illinois stocks, and the stocks of other States so far as I have learned, during the past year, have been attended with great expense and disadvantage; and similar difficulties must be encountered in our future operations while the money markets remain depressed. The policy of placing our stocks in the European markets, I have always doubted, but of its inexpediency, at the present time, there can be no question; to say nothing of a premium on their sale, it is impossible to realize par value in European currency; and to receive it in United States currency in our Eastern cities, would result in immense sacrifice. The sale of our Bonds in the United States, payable in pounds sterling, the interest and principal being made payable in Europe, (although the contract may fix the value of a dollar at four shillings, six pence) is calculated to produce difficulty and probably great loss. Should the debt, be liquidated in SILVER, other than the coinage of Great Britain, the dollar would only be worth about four shillings, two pence, which would be equal to eight per cent. discount; and if in GOLD, it would be still greater, the standard value of a British Sovereign in this country, being \$4.87, and in Europe only equal to \$4.44, which would exceed $9\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. discount. If paid in Bills of Exchange, it would in that event, depend upon the difference of exchange at the time of payment. This subject merits your attention, whether viewed in reference to sales already made, or those which may hereafter be effected. All future negotiations should be dictated by sound policy, wisdom and prudence, and all expenditures judiciously and economically applied.

Having thus placed this important part of our stupendous system of public works, with the prospects and difficulties belonging to the same before you; it only remains for me to suggest a measure of relief. As a means of conducting the operations on the canal to a successful termination, bringing the residue of its lands into market, to be disposed of on such terms as may enable the State to meet with promptitude, the interest accruing upon her bonds, seems to me, a plan as plausible as any that can be recommended.

In the present exigency of affairs, it seems to my mind that the resources of the canal should be called into requisition by the sale of such portion of the lands donated by the General Government as would equal the liabilities which the State may have contracted from time to time for the prosecution of that work, extending to the purchasers a credit commensurate with the time of the final redemption of the bonds sold the purchasers, paying interest on the amount at the rate of six per cent. per annum. By this means the interest on the sales would meet the interest on the money borrowed, and the principal the final redemption of the bonds.

An arrangement was entered into with the Bank of Illinois, for advances in anticipation of the instalments which would become due from the Poughkeepsie Locomotive Engine Company, at the Atlantic Bank, New York, upon a loan of $128,000, negotiated under an act to authorize a loan for revenue purposes, approved March 1st, 1839. This arrangement was made with the Bank of Illinois, in consequence of the State Bank having refused to pay the warrants of the Auditor drawn in favor of the State House Commissioners, and declining to advance a sum exceeding $40,000 during the year.

Adhering in good faith to the terms of the agreement, the Bank of Illinois has already advanced $80,097. The company, however, from whom the loan was obtained, seem disposed to avoid the payment of the money. A draft of $16,000, (less $200 expenses) payable November 1st, 1839, drawn by me upon them, being the first instalment due upon the loan has been presented for payment at the Atlantic Bank, and protested. This subject has been laid before the Attorney General, and is now presented for your consideration. The liberal and honorable course pursued by the Bank of Illinois, in furnishing means for the advancement of the State House, prompts me to recommend to you the propriety of your immediately indemnifying her against loss.

The revenue law passed at the last session has been a subject of much animadversion and dissatisfaction, and some of the counties, I regret to say, have resisted it by a refusal to assess their taxable property. Such proceedings should never be resorted to, and cannot be tolerated in a government like ours, where the people elect their own legislators, through whom they can only legitimately redress their grievances. There can be but little doubt of the equity and justice of the principle upon which the law is founded, that each individual should pay a tax in proportion to the value of his property, but its details are justly considered exceptionable, and call for a speedy revision. I would, therefore, recommend this matter to your consideration, and hope some mode will be provided by which its enforcement shall, in all cases, hereafter be insured.

It would have afforded me pleasure to have complied with the wish of a large respectable portion of my fellow-citizens in recommending a reduction of taxes, but the present revenue not being sufficient to defray the ordinary expenses of the State Government, precludes such a recommendation.

The present attitude assumed by the State Bank, since the date of my Proclamation, and the relations which subsist between that institution and the people, individually and collectively, present to your consideration questions of the gravest import. The isolated fact of the suspension of specie payments by the Bank and its branches on a former occasion was deemed of sufficient moment by my esteemed predecessor to justify a special convocation of the General Assembly. At that session an act was passed for the benefit of the Bank, which I have ever regarded as striking a fatal blow at the fundamental law of contracts. It cannot, indeed, be for a moment doubted by the most chimerical, that, if any holder of her bills, had instituted suit for the recovery of their value, the Act itself would have fallen powerless. Its only efficacy, therefore, was found in the relief it extended to the Bank by the preservation of her charter which otherwise would have terminated by the violation of her obligations.

A similar exigency having again presented itself in the affairs of this institution, I deem it my duty to submit to you my views upon this subject more fully than I have heretofore done. It is hardly necessary for me to say, however, that I regard the incorporation of companies for the regulation of the financial operations of the country, at war with the genius of a free government. Where there is no individual responsibility attached to the members of the incorporation, the danger is doubly enhanced for all past experience proves that in such instances personal interest is almost universally paramount to the public weal.

Laying aside all constitutional questions growing out of this subject, it is manifest to my mind that the channels of business should not be filled up and controlled by a circulating medium which is susceptible of contraction and expansion at pleasure. Permanent and fixed laws which dispense their blessings with equal justice will only ensure stability to our free institutions, and guaranty the perpetuation of American Liberty, and how can we expect to reap the advantages of such enactments for the regulation of the currency, if this power, important and vast in itself, is entrusted to the care of an irresponsible corporation, who may have millions in circulation to-day and to-morrow contract their issues, force the payment of debts, and spread gloom and desolation where there was, at least, the semblance of prosperity and happiness. But it may be interposed that as banks have been so extensively established in our country, and are so intimately connected with every department of trade and consequently interwoven with the various relations of social and political life, it would be a suicidal policy to destroy them. Whatever force there may be in this argument to justify their longer continuance, it cannot in any event guaranty permanency to our monetary affairs or plead, in justification of a suspension of specie payments: it can only be urged, in extenuation of what is claimed to be a necessary evil, so deeply and firmly rooted, that we are told, it cannot be eradicated without destroying the country. Is this possible? Can it be true that we are already under the dominion of monied oligarchies? and that an inflated paper circulating medium is as essential to the support of the government as the heart to the organic system? If so, we stand on a fearful and alarming precipice, erected by error and sanctified by time, from which it is our duty to extricate ourselves as speedily as possible.

The truth is, and it no longer admits of doubt, that the banking system, generally, is radically defective and unsanctioned by any principle of republican virtue. How can the fluctuations, to which the representative wealth of our country is continually subject, be otherwise satisfactorily accounted for. But the evil is not confined to the fundamental errors of the system. Its tendency and practical results leave their impress on the community, individually and collectively. A sudden and unnatural increase of paper currency imparts a fictitious value to property, and engenders a wild and extravagant spirit of speculation. Many are allured by its fascinations from the paths of honest industry in the hope of accumulating wealth by some fortunate enterprise. Facilities being easily obtained, they contract debts which finally overwhelm them in ruin. But at the moment when times become oppressive and they require aid, the banks refuse to extend further accommodations—force the payment of obligations due them, and not unfrequently refuse, at the same time, to redeem their own bills. The State Bank of Illinois, stands in this humiliating relation to the people at the present period, and it remains for you to determine, gentlemen, whether relief shall be extended to her, if any shall be solicited. If she is suffered, biennially, to set at defiance the will of the community—the law of her existence, and every principle of justice and moral honesty, by the suspension of specie payments, what special favors does she merit at your hands, and by what arguments are patriotic sympathies to be awakened in her behalf, or liberal and enlarged provisions enacted which would only tend to diminish accountability and promptitude in the proper discharge of her lawful duties. Had the proposition been submitted to the Legislature which passed its charter, to give the bank the privilege of refusing to redeem her bills on presentation, when the banks of New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore should refuse to redeem theirs, and to resume only on the condition of their resumption, it would have been regarded as too absurd and monstrous to receive a moments consideration. Yet experience proves that such is the tendency and effect of power, that corporations frequently obtain from subsequent Legislatures, that, which at first would have been denied them. To my mind no exigency can possibly happen to justify the refusal of the bank to pay her obligations at maturity. And a State institution like our own, which, since its establishment, has continually urged her claims upon the Legislature—an institution, the measure of whose endowments and privileges has been alone limited by her own demands—an institution so powerful in itself and yet so inefficient in extending aid, has few motives to present for the further exercise of legislative relief. Rigid accountability should supercede the indulgence she has heretofore received.

Three years ago the amount of the capital stock of the Bank was augmented by subscription, on the part of the State, to $2,000,000, with the view of affording increased facilities to mercantile operations, and extending aid to the agricultural, and other important interests of the State. How far the ends proposed by that augmentation of its capital, may have been realized on the interests upon which the measure was designed to operate, cannot, with certainty, be ascertained. The important enquiry, however, naturally arises, whether the Bank, with such vast accession to her capital, has extended relief commensurate with her increased means and ability. It has been asserted, (with what truth I leave you to determine,) that instead of confining her operations within the provisions of her charter, and the ordinary functions which properly pertain to a just exercise of her privileges, and furnishing that assistance and aid to the State in the prosecution of her public works, which she in honor and good faith was bound to do, she has engaged in speculating in the staple products of the country, or furnishing the greater part of her capital to a few favourite individuals for this purpose to the exclusion and detriment of the community generally. The deep and abiding solicitude with which this subject is entertained by the people, and the vast interest the State has at stake in the proper management of the Bank, render a rigid and impartial investigation into her condition highly important. If she is innocent, she should with pride and pleasure solicit this investigation. If she is guilty of improper conduct, let her answer the consequences. It would be far better for the State that there should be, at once, a forfeiture of her charter, than that she should go on accumulating power, and yet disregarding her duty and that faith which she should maintain to the public. We indeed laboured in vain in overthrowing the Bank of the United States, if we should now draw to our embrace an institution above responsibility and capable of inflicting within its own sphere a still more deadly sting. I therefore, respectfully recommend that no law be passed to legalize the suspension of specie payment on the part of the Bank, and that you institute a rigid and thorough examination into its condition. As the Bank of Illinois has continued, through all the present financial embarrassments of the country, to redeem her notes, and as Banks in other States have not generally suspended, I cannot divine why the State Bank should close her doors and again plead inability, by the non-payment of her notes, to comply with her existing obligations.

Gentlemen it is unnecessary for me to remind you of the weighty and almost fearful responsibility which the exercise of your functions at this time imposes upon you. The future destiny of the State, for weal or for woe, will depend upon your action. I hope and trust that no motives but those of the purest and most devoted patriotism will mingle with your deliberations, and that all your measures will be dictated by wisdom and enlightened policy. May you act in such manner as will meet the approbation of the people and your own consciences, and may the blessings of heaven crown your exertions with success and render the people prosperous and happy.

Mr. Stapp moved for adoption the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, The people of the State of Illinois, view with just indignation and alarm the extravagant and reckless manner, in which many millions of their money have been expended, without any prospect whatever, or receiving the least possible benefits in return, either at the present time or prospectively:

And whereas, they view with still greater alarm the millions of dollars which are being daily borrowed on the faith and credit of the State, and for the payment of which the farms or property of every individual in the State is mortgaged, the interest on the loans already made becoming due, and payable before the money is received by the State, and for the payment of which interest there is scarcely a provision, unless it be paid out of the principle now borrowed:

And whereas, the present rate of taxation is considered, and indeed is high and oppressive when compared with the amount of taxes levied by other States for the defraying the ordinary expenses thereof:

And whereas, to increase the present high rate of taxation for any purpose whatever, would be oppressive and intolerable:

And whereas, the wants of the State unequivocally demand the increase of the tax to the present amount, without any reference whatever to the Internal Improvement system:

And whereas, It is the opinion of this General Assembly, that the present mis-named system of Internal Improvements was palmed upon the people without their consent or knowledge:

And whereas, In order to keep up the system, and more effectually to clinch it upon them, a true exposition of the facts in relation to the benefits and final completion has hitherto been refused by the friends and supporters of the system, but on the contrary every exertion has been used, and every engine that could be brought to bear has been played and with partial success, to induce the people to believe:

1. That the cost of the system of Internal Improvements when first projected, would not exceed $8,000,000 to complete every part and parcel thereof.

2. That the beauty of this great scheme was, that we were to have railroads to every corner of the State, and the people not to be taxed one cent for the cost of the same.

3. That the tendency of this system would be to build up commercial cities in various portions of our State, indeed at the commencement, termination, and interlocation of every railroad, (which are numberless,) there were to be great and flourishing cities.

4. That the dividends on bank stocks, the rents and profits to be received from Hydraulic power, premium on State Bonds, and tolls to be received from railroads, &c. &c., would not only pay the interest on any and all sums made for the final completion of the system: but that various sources of revenue above mentioned, (which existed only in the imagination of a few designing politicians, or from selfish and pecuniary considerations,) would also produce a revenue sufficient to defray the ordinary expenses of the State Government, and eventually in a very few years reproduce the annihilated School Fund.

5. That the real property of the whole country would be enhanced in value at least fifty per cent. per annum: therefore,

Resolved, By the people of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly, that we have seen in less than three years from the adoption of the system of Internal Improvement, the cost of completion has increased in the conception of the warmest supporters at least seventy-five per cent.; and that instead of railroads to every corner of the State, we have nothing but deep cuts and high embankments, in many instances stopping up entirely the public highways leading from one neighborhood to another, and the prospect of increased taxation.

That instead of great and flourishing cities, the energies of the people have been entirely destroyed by the fearful picture ahead.

That instead of rents and profits from Hydraulic power, we have patches of work done on every railroad in the State, which must and would inevitably decay before the system could possibly be completed under the most efficient management possible; that instead of premiums on State Bonds we have the shameful prospect, that if our bonds are disposed of at all the people must be shaved out of $10 on every hundred, which would make the enormous shave on $4,000,000 Bonds amount to the sum of $400,000 besides the interest being paid before the money is received; that instead of a revenue for the ordinary expenses of the State Government, we have annually a large deficit; and that instead of a debt of only $8,000,000 at the completion of the works we have now heaped upon us, a debt of more than $11,000,000 and the system but just commenced; and that we most honestly believe that if the system is attempted to be completed, ruin and desolation, and a debt of at least $40,000,000 will be the result.

Resolved, That the committee on Internal Improvements be instructed to report a bill to this House, repealing the law establishing and maintaining a general system of Internal Improvements, and that they incorporate in said bill such other provisions for dismissing the officers of that system now under the pay of the State; and also to make such provisions as will best secure the interests of the State in the works already commenced, and that they report by bill.

Mr. Robert Smith moved to lay the foregoing preamble and resolution on the table.

Mr. Stapp and Mr. Henry called for the ayes and noes, on the motion to lay the bill on the table, which resulted as follows:

Those who voted to lay on the table, are,

Messrs. Able, Aldrich, Allen of Franklin, Bainbridge, Churchill, Craig, Crain, Cunningham, Dawson, Dubois, Dunn, Edwards, Elkin, Emmerson, Ficklin, Foster, Gouge, Hankins, Henderson, Huey, Hull, Kercheval, Lincoln, Logan, Love, Lyon, Marshall, Maus, McCormick, McCutchen, Mc

Mr. Carpenter from the committee on Elections to whom was referred the communication of Richard Kerr, claiming his seat as a member of this House, report, that they have had the matter under consideration, and from the testimony submitted to them, have ascertained the following to be the facts in the case. That Mr. Kerr owns a large farm and stock in Pike county, worth at least $10,000; that during last spring he made a verbal contract with the Indian Agent of the Sacs and Foxes, to open a farm for the Indians in Iowa Territory; that he also sold a parcel of stock to the Agent, for the use of the Indian Agency; that in July last, he went over to Iowa with his wife and daughter and adopted son, taking with him about $150 worth of bedding, his bridle and saddle, and no other property; that it was necessary for him to take over the bedding for the use of the hands which he had employed to open said farm, and he was compelled to have his wife or some other female to aid in cooking for the hands employed by him; that his contract was to continue in force until the first day of April, 1840; and there was to be a reservation of six weeks for him to return home to Pike, in the fall of this year.

That in November last, he was on his road from Iowa to Pike county, and first heard of the call of the Legislature on his road; that he left his wife and daughter in Iowa, because of their ill health and inability to return with him, and that he brought back with him another daughter; that there is a competent man now acting for him at the agency in opening the farm, who receives the same pay during his absence, which he was to receive, and that he never had removed from Pike county with the intention of changing his permanent residence, or losing his right of citizenship in that county; that this was generally understood amongst his neighbors and the citizens of said county, and that before he left, he had informed several of the citizens of said county, that if the Legislature was called together, he intended to attend the meeting of that body, to take his seat.

Mr. Kerr, as was in evidence, was appointed on the first of July last; (just as he was about going on the business referred to,) Treasurer of the Board of Trustees for the township in which he resides, and that he still holds that office, and that no efforts nor pretence has been set up to deprive him of said office.

It was also in evidence before the committee, that previous to the clerk of the county court, notifying the Governor that there was a vacancy in said county, no person seemed to have thought of any vacancy, and no one was heard by the witness to remark that Mr. Kerr had removed from the county permanently, or had lost his right to his seat in this House, and during his absence in the summer and fall, his farm was partly carried on for his benefit, and at his expense by his son-in-law; that he never sold any of his land or personal property, or offered to sell any part of either on account of his employment in Iowa.

Mr. Love stated that he wanted the testimony of a Mr. Hanson, who left Springfield on yesterday morning for Coles county, by whom he stated he expected to prove that Mr. Kerr had in his presence on his way from Iowa, spoken of his farm in Pike county as his former residence.

Two witnesses were then examined before the committee, who stated they had conversed with Mr. Hanson, and one of them at the request, and in the presence of Mr. Love, and they understood him to say, that he heard Mr. Kerr make statements similar to those above set forth by the committee; but they did not understand him as Mr. Love states. He farther stated to the witness, that his testimony was wholly immaterial, and that he should return home, as he could do neither of them any good in this matter.

It appears from the returns in the office of the Secretary of State, that at the election held in November last, under the order of the Governor, that Oscar Love received only 206 votes, and only 22 scattering votes were given. It appears also, that Pike county has at former elections given upwards of 1600 votes, and it is now thought to contain 2,000 votes; that the citizens of the county generally refused, or neglected to vote, believing there was no vacancy; and that at three precincts no election was held on this account, as the witnesses were informed; and that both of the political parties in said county have been heard to state, that Mr. Kerr was entitled to his seat.

Your committee submit the foregoing facts for the consideration of this House, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

Mr. Murphy of Vermilion moved for adoption the following resolution, viz:

Resolved, That Richard Kerr is entitled to his seat as a member of the present House of Representatives.

Mr. Walker of Vermilion moved to amend the resolution by striking out all after the word resolved, and insert the following:

Whereas, the people are becoming alarmed in view of the debt which necessarily must be incurred to complete the present system of Internal improvements adopted by this State:

And whereas, the monetary affairs of the country, are in such a condition as to preclude the possibility of procuring at this time, funds necessary to carry out the same:

And whereas, the money already expended on railroads now under contract, (and in progress) in continuous lines from the navigable rivers, amounting to millions of dollars, would be a total loss to the State, in case of the entire abandonment of the system, but if completed, would to some extent aid in the payment of the interest on their cost:

And whereas, it would be a breach of good faith on the part of the State, to attempt to annul the contracts made with her citizens; and would be ruinous and destructive to the contractors, and those who have labored for them. Therefore,

Resolved, That the committee on Internal Improvements be requested to report to this House as soon as practicable, a bill providing for the completion of all contracts now let in continuous lines from navigable rivers; and the suspension of operations on all other roads, or parts of roads authorized to be constructed in the bill for "An act to establish and maintain a general system of Internal Improvements, and all acts amendatory or supplemental thereto, until otherwise ordered by the General Assembly.

On motion of Mr. Moore,

Whereas, the present session of the General Assembly has been convened by the Governor, in obedience to calls made upon him by the people, for the purpose of re-considering the action had, during the last regular session upon the subject of Internal Improvements.

And whereas, the people have not expressed any desire for the Convention of this General Assembly, for any other purpose than that of acting upon the subject aforesaid.

And whereas, it is known that the finances of the State are not in a condition to justify any expenditure of public money, except for useful and necessary purposes.

Wherefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives, That the action of this General Assembly should be confined to the purposes for which it was convened, and such other business as imperatively call for legislative action.

Resolved, That the committee on Internal Improvements be instructed to report a bill, with as little delay as possible, containing such provisions as are necessary and proper to effect the following objects.

Tenth. To provide for such of the railroads or other improvements as have been completed.

Eleventh. To limit the powers of the Board of Public Works to be organized, in the appointment of Engineers and Agents, so as to require one Chief Engineer, with such assistants as may be indispensable to the execution of duties required.

pletion of any contract on any other river, may be absolutely necessary to preserve what has been done.

Thirteenth. To require the discharge from service of all Engineers and Agents, so soon as settlements have been made with contractors, and the public property placed in a safe condition.

Fourteenth. To provide against paying money upon contracts or stipulations in contracts not authorized by law.

Resolved further, That the committee on Finance, be instructed to report a bill abolishing the Board of Fund Commissioners, and providing that the duties of said Board in relation to paying interest on money borrowed, be performed by the Governor, or the Board of Public Works.

2. That all sales of State Bonds made by said Commissioners for less than their par value of such bonds, shall be considered as void.

3. That no State Bonds shall be sold until authorized by law.

4. Vacating and annulling all and every agency created or appointed by the Fund Commissioners for the sale of State Bonds.

5. Requiring all bonds which have been executed and not sold, to be delivered up to the Governor, to be by him deposited in some safe place, subject to the future laws of the State.

Be it further resolved, That the committee on the Judiciary be instructed to report a bill with proper provisions to effect the following objects:

First. To give the Circuit Court of Sangamon county, jurisdiction of all actions and causes of action, which have or may arise in favor of the State against State officers, agents, and all others against whom such causes of action have or may arise.

Third. To give the Circuit Court of Sangamon county, jurisdiction over all cases of fraud or mal-conduct on the part of public officers and agents of the State, who are, or may be liable to indictment for such fraud or improper conduct.

Fourth. Declaring void all contracts made by the agents of the State, in executing the law, in relation to the system of Internal Improvements, when the agent exceeded his authority, and providing for the recovery of all money unlawfully paid out by any such agent.

Whereas, Oscar Love was permitted by a vote of this House at its organization, on the 9th inst. to take his seat in this body as a member from Pike county, without any examination of the facts whether there was a vacancy in the representation from that county; and whereas, Richard Kerr, the member elected in that county at the regular election in 1838, is now in attendance on this body, and has claimed his seat as a member of this House: and whereas the consideration of his claim has been postponed at the request of Oscar Love, for the purpose of sending for a witness, therefore, for the purpose of doing justice and acting with impartiality in this matter, it is

Mr. Ficklin from the committee on Internal Improvements, to which was referred a series of communications, have according to order, had under consideration the reports of the Board of Public Works, together with accompanying documents, and beg leave to report:

That after an examination into the various documents referred to them by the House, they deem it unnecessary at the present to publish more than the exhibits marked A, B, C, and D, by the printing of which the House and the People generally will be informed as to the amount of money expended, the amount now due by the State, and the number of miles of railroad let by the Commissioners to Contractors.

The reports of the several Commissioners are too voluminous to have them printed with expedition, or to be read when printed by the mass of the people, consisting mainly of accounts in detail of money expended by them.

A practice seems to have been adopted to some extent by the Commissioners of taking receipts in full from contractors for their estimates, and having the amount so receipted for by the contractor, passed to the credit of the particular Commissioner by the Board, when it is acknowledged in the report that the money was not paid by the Commissioners to the contractor agreeable to the receipts.

Your committee would suggest two objections to this course, first, the report does not show the House the difference between the sum of money received by the Commissioner and the amount disbursed by him; Second, Inasmuch as the State has notice that receipts are given when the money has not been paid to the laborer, would it not create an equity so strong, that if the Commissioner failed to pay the contractors, the State would be certain to make an appropriation out of the Treasury for the relief of individuals. Again, if the Board of Commissioners passed the amount receipted for as above stated, to the credit of the proper Commissioner, a question might arise how far this operated as a release of the sureties of said Commissioners. The committee in closing this report will beg leave to offer for adoption the following resolution.

Resolved, by the House of Representatives, That copies of this report and accompanying documents be printed for the use of the members of the Legislature.

Whereas, the obstructions to the navigation of the Mississippi river, occasioned by the Des Moines and Rock Island Rapids, are a serious interruption to its navigation; and occasion great loss of time and expense of money to merchants and others, navigating the upper Mississippi river, so much so, that the extra charges on freight and passengers during the low stages of water the past season, has exceeded one hundred thousand dollars.

And whereas, the improvement in the navigation of the Mississippi river is entirely and exclusively under the jurisdiction of the General Government. Therefore,

Resolved unanimously by the House of Representatives, (the Senate concurring herein,) That our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives requested to use their best exertions to procure at the present session of Congress an appropriation of at least three hundred thousand dollars, to be applied to the speedy removal of those obstructions; and that the passage of an act for the simultaneous prosecution of the work at both rapids, by contract or otherwise, so as to insure the speedy accomplishment of this object.

And whereas, since the organization of said Court, the State has been rapidly growing in wealth, population, intelligence, and all things pertaining to the well being and prosperity of civil society, with the exception of the intellectual improvement of the Justices of said Court.

And whereas, a majority of said Court recently committed a palpable violation of the Constitution of the State in their decision, relating to the office of Secretary of State, and whether said decision was the offspring of ignorance, or the result of partizan feeling, it is alike discreditable to the State, and unworthy of the high tribunal from which it emanated.

And whereas, it is the opinion of this General Assembly, that a vast majority of the citizens of Illinois, ardently desire a change in the officers of said Court on the ground of incompetency, and inability to discharge the duties devolving on them, and also for other and divers good and sufficient reasons.

Therefore be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, That the Justices of the Supreme Court be, and they are hereby addressed out of office.

Ordered, That Messrs. Williams, McCutchen, Walker of Fulton, Edmonson, and McWilliams, be that committee.

Mr. Baker and others, presented a protest and demanded that it be entered on the Journals of this House; which was accordingly done.

The protest is as follows, to wit:

The undersigned members of the House of Representatives, have seen with unalloyed regret, the decision of the House, in favor of the resolutions against impeaching John Pearson, Judge of the 7th Judicial Circuit, upon the charges and specifications lately preferred against him.

Those charges were of a high and grave character, and as evidence that they were so considered by the House, it will be seen that the House resolved by a very large majority, to have the proof relied upon to sustain them: That proof has been heard, it has not only tended to sustain, but it has established by the highest grade of testimony, every specification alleged against the respondent; nor is there one fact stated in those specifications which has not been proved, either by the records of the Circuit Court, or the oaths of two respectable and intelligent witnesses; and we have embodied in this protest some of the facts thus established. It has been proved that John Pearson, Judge of the 7th Judicial Circuit, has violated the right of trial by Jury, by refusing the counsel for the prisoner a peremptory challenge to a juror, his prescribed number of challenges not being exhausted; alleging as a reason therefor, a rule of practice of his circuit which was unreasonable, against the forms of the law, and the letter and spirit of the Constitution. He has prevented an appeal from his decision to a higher tribunal, by refusing in numerous cases to sign "bills of exceptions," containing a statement of his decision, and the testimony on which such decision was based, when he as well as the counsel in whose favor he decided, admitted these statements to be true; and when the Statutes of the State expressly making it his duty to sign such bills of exception, have been read to him, he still persisted in his refusal, saying, that such statutes were but a "legislative flourish."

He has arrogated to himself the right of final decision, subject to no appeal, by refusing to hear and disobeying the process of the Supreme Court of the State of Illinois, commanding him to sign a bill of exceptions, thereby treating the mandates of a Supreme Court with contempt, and denying an appeal from the tribunal over which he presided. He has treated with contempt and scorn, the process of a Court of the United States, which he was bound to obey by refusing to hear it, and by treating it with utter neglect. He has acted in an arbitrary and oppressive manner, by threatening counsel for presenting in a respectful manner the process of the Supreme Court, and of the District Court of the United States, and by actually punishing them for so doing, not once only but repeatedly, under the influence of passion, and excitement, thereby perverting the power placed as a sacred trust in his hands to the indulgence of personal feeling and private resentment.

He has shown culpable ignorance of the law, by quashing an indictment for the sole reason that the clerk had left out one word in the copy delivered to the prisoner, and by quashing indictments at one term, for the single reason that the date in the caption was in figures, when the statutes of the State expressly directs the caption to be so written. Thereby permitting crime to have a free course, obstructing public justice and degrading the character of the Judiciary in the eyes of the world.

These facts have been proved in the presence of this House, and every candid observer will bear us witness that they have received no darker coloring from our statements, and yet with these startling facts fresh in the recollection of the House it has been solemnly decided by a majority, in which was included every member agreeing in political sentiments with the respondent that they did not afford reason that the said John Pearson should be impeached, that decision is final; he is again to ascend the bench, again to be entrusted with the issues of life and death, and again to officiate not merely as a minister of stern and impartial justice, but as the representative of the majesty and dignity of the law.

To permit this result without the formality of a trial, is in our estimation dangerous if not fatal to the purity of the Judicial character. We have ever struggled to maintain the independence of the Judiciary, and to place it high above the assaults of party violence and political feeling, but we have also desired to see all Judges amenable to the law, they are called upon to administer, and subject to those restraints wisely provided for in other countries and the Constitution of our own. We believe that in this case the authority of precedent, the usages of the past, and the dictates of the Constitution have been alike disregarded, and being firmly of opinion that the decision of this House will tend to render our judges irresponsible, and to bring our courts into contempt, to destroy the rights of individuals, and cast disrespect on the administration of public justice. We therefore present this remonstrance against the judgment of the House; and if as citizens of the State rejoicing in her honor, and sorrowing in her shame, we shall find these predictions fulfilled, and be compelled to look back to the action of this honorable House, as the fruitful source of Judicial tyranny and oppression, casting a stain upon the public character and bringing ruin to individual interest, we at least desire that all men may know that we have not assented to the decision; so we are not answerable for the consequences; wherefore, against the resolution of this House, declaring that the Hon. Johnⁿ Pearson, Judge &c. should not be impeached and brought to trial, we do most respectfully but earnestly protest.

Mr. Williams from the committee on finance, to whom was referred the contract for a loan of one Million of dollars made by Richard M. Young, and John Reynolds, made the following

REPORT:

The committee on Finance, to whom was referred a contract for a loan of one million of dollars, made the 30th day of October, A. D. 1839, between Richard M. Young and John Reynolds, Agents on behalf of the State of Illinois, of the one part, and John Wright, on behalf of himself and his copartners, under the firm of Wright & Co., Bankers, Henrietta street, Covent Garden, London, beg leave to report:

That they have given to this subject the careful consideration which its importance demands, and now respectfully present to the House the result of their examination.

The chief stipulations of the contracts are as follows:

1. Mr. Young^a has delivered to Messrs. Wright & Co., bonds to the amount of one million of dollars: the principal of which is payable in London, in the year 1870, and the interest thereon is payable annually, also in London, at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

2. Messrs. Young and Reynolds agree to procure or endeavour to procure, the State of Illinois, to issue, in lieu of the bonds already deposited with Messrs. Wright & Co., one million of State Bonds, to be substituted for the old bonds by Messrs. Wright & Co., "if and when they shall think proper so to do:" upon which new Bonds, the interest shall be payable semi-annually, on the first days of January and July in each year, at the banking house of Messrs. Wright & Co., London.

3. Messrs. Wright & Co. are authorized to sell or negotiate the said Bonds, already deposited with them, at a rate not less than ninety-one dollars, payable in London, for every hundred dollars of Bonds:—if more than 91 per cent. can be obtained for the bonds, the surplus, to the extent of 4 per cent. is to be retained by Messrs. Wright & Co., as a commission on the sale; and, if more than 95 per cent. can be had for the Bonds, the excess is to be equally divided between the State of Illinois and Messrs. Wright & Co.

4. The interest upon said bonds is to be remitted so as to be received by Messrs. Wright & Co., at least fifteen days before the day or days when said interest becomes due; and Messrs. Wright & Co. are to retain one per cent. as a commission, upon all the interest to be received and paid over by them.

The act of the General Assembly, under which the said agents proceeded, authorized them to negotiate a loan for a sum not exceeding four millions of dollars, and for a term not exceeding fifty years, and at a rate of interest, not exceeding six per cent. per annum, payable yearly; the payment of interest and re-imbursement of principal to be made at such time within or without the United States, and in such currency as might be agreed on. And it was further declared by the said act, that no bonds should be sold for less than their par value.

The principal point to which the attention of the committee was directed is, whether the contract is in accordance with that provision of the law, requiring the Bonds to be sold "for not less than their par value."

A difficulty sometimes occurs in questions of this sort, from not ascertaining with precision the meaning of the term "par:" Mr. Gallatin, in that part of his essay on the currency and banking system of the United States, which treats of exchange, has the following passage:

"Being obliged to refer to the rate of exchange, it must be recollected, that what is universally meant by par, is the promise to pay in another place a quantity of pure silver or gold, equal in weight to the quantity of pure silver or gold, contained in the coins, with which the drawer of the bill of exchange is paid."

This definition is correct in the case to which Mr. Gallatin has applied it, to-wit: where a bill of exchange, drawn upon and payable in one place, is sold in another. But perhaps, a more complete and full explanation of the term "par," is presented in the following propositions:

1. Where a security is sold in the same place where it is made payable, or in other words, where the money is to be received and repaid, at the same place and in the same currency—there no exchange enters into the calculation, but the nominal par is the true par. One hundred dollars must be received for every hundred dollars to be repaid, in order to constitute a par sale.

2. Where a security is sold and the money received for it in one place and the security is made payable in a different place, where the money received, either by a difference of currency, or by the price of exchange, is worth more or less than it is worth at the place where received—here the nominal par is not the true par: and the true par will either exceed or fall short of the nominal par, according to the comparative value of the currency in the two places, or the rate of exchange between them.

The case of the contract, referred to your committee, falls within the first of these propositions. The bonds are made payable, principal and interest, in London; they are authorized to be sold in London: and, according to the rule laid down above, in order to make a sale of these bonds at par, one hundred dollars should be paid in London, for every hundred dollars of the bonds sold, which are made payable in that place. And, inasmuch as only ninety-one dollars are to be received, in case of the action of Messrs. Wright & Co., under the contract, for every one hundred dollars of bonds, it follows that the sale is nine per cent. below par.

Another view of the case may be taken: It was, obviously, the intention of the Legislature, as it is the fair construction of the law, to authorize the borrowing of a sum not exceeding four millions of dollars: to bind the State for the re-payment of the amount borrowed, dollar for dollar; and to bind the State for the payment of six per cent. interest, annually, upon the actual amount of money borrowed.

Now, the State is made to borrow and receive in London ninety-one dollars—she is bound, in 1870, to re-pay in London, not ninety-one dollars, but one hundred—and, in the meantime, she is bound to pay six per cent. interest, not upon ninety-one dollars, but upon one hundred. She is bound therefore, to pay, upon a final settlement, nine dollars in every hundred, more than she receives, of the principal sum: and, in the interval, she pays six per cent. interest, annually, upon nine dollars in every hundred, which she never received.

Your committee herewith submit, as part of their report, marked exhibit A, a calculation of the amount that will be lost by a sale under this contract: from which it appears, that the excess of principal to be paid over and above what is received, by the State—the interest upon that excess—the commission of one per cent. to Messrs. Wright & Co., for receiving and paying over the interest—and the exchange upon these sums—taken together, will result in a total loss to the State of $294,300, over and above the principal and interest, which the State will receive, and have the use of under this contract.

It may be argued, that ninety-one per cent. received in London upon the State Bonds, by the addition of the exchange between that place and New York, will realize to the State, in New York, the par value of the bonds. This circumstance has not escaped the notice of your committee, and they answer.

1. That the addition of the exchange, as proposed, will not bring the sale up to par: Nine per cent. the present rate of exchange, upon ninety-one dollars, is only eight dollars, nineteen cents: and this added to ninety-one dollars, amounts only to $99,19 in New York, for $100, payable in London; leaving the sale more than 4-5 of one per cent. below par.

2. But the apparent gain by exchange is fallacious. It must be always remembered, that the money is to be repaid in London: that if the exchange be in our favor when we bring the funds from London to New York, it will be against us when we remit them from New York to London: and that whatever is made by exchange on receiving the loan, will be lost on its re-payment. This answer will also apply to any similar gain in exchange, between New York and Illinois.

Again, it may be urged, that the rate of exchange may not continue as it now is; for it is the opinion of some, that by the year 1870, exchange will be in favor of the United States, and against London. To this no other reply is necessary, than to say, that the question whether a sale under the present contract be at par or not, is a question of fact, dependent upon circumstances, actually existing, known and ascertained: that the sale will be either at par, above, or below, according to these circumstances: and that the question cannot be affected by a contingency which may or may not happen hereafter. Such a contingency will have an influence on the future loss or profit of the transaction; but it has no bearing upon the question now under consideration, which must be decided solely with reference to the present known and certain condition of things.

Lastly, some may suggest, that Messrs. Wright & Co. may probably sell the bonds at a higher rate than ninety-one per cent., perhaps even at the nominal, and true par in London. This cannot alter the question. The law forbids a sale to be made for less than par: the contract authorizes Messrs. Wright & Co. to sell at 9 per cent. below par, or at any better price to be had: the contract is therefore in violation of the law; and whether Messrs. Wright & Co. sell at 91, or 100, or 109, the authority given him by the contract, to sell at 91, exceeds that conferred by the law upon the agents themselves.

Your committee omit to notice the unusual powers conferred upon Messrs. Wright & Co., and the extensive discretion allowed them by this contract. They conclude with the expression of their opinion, made up from a deliberate review of all the features of the case, that the contract in question does authorize a sale to be made of the State Bonds at less than their par value: and that therein it exceeds the powers granted to the agents, who entered into said contract on the part of this State, and violates the law under which they acted.

Therefore, be it resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring herein, That the said contract is unauthorized by law, and void, and that we will not ratify the same.

Resolved further, That his Excellency, the Governor, be requested to revoke the appointments of the Honorable Richard Martin Young and John Reynolds as agents to negotiate loans for Canal purposes, and that he forthwith notify Messrs. Wright & Co., of the refusal of the State to agree to said contract, and that he forbear altogether to sell any of the State Bonds deposited with him by said agents in pursuance of said contracts.

EXHIBIT A.

Filed with the report of the Committee on Finance, upon the contract made by the agents to negotiate a loan for Canal purposes, with Messrs. Wright and Co. London.

By the last act of Congress, establishing the value of foreign gold coins, the legal value of a British sovereign (which is a pound sterling,) of full weight, is fixed at $4,87 7-100: but, none of the sovereigns are of full weight, and their average value has been found to be, under the above law, within a very small fraction of $4,85.

Our imaginary value of pound sterling has heretofore been $4,44 44-100, or at the rate of $40 to nine pounds sterling. Nine per cent. on this imaginary value of the pound, produces $4,84 44-100, which is very near the legal value, in the United States, of a British sovereign, as above. Considering British gold coins, therefore, as the standard of value, nine per cent. on the imaginary value of $4,44 to a pound sterling may be assumed as sufficiently near the true par of exchange between the United States and England, for all practical purposes.

Suppose then one million of dollars in Illinois sterling bonds, or pounds sterling 225,000, sold in London, at 91 per cent. interest, payable yearly in London, at 6 per cent. with a commission of 1 per cent. for the payment of the interest, and the principal payable in London at the end of thirty years. Suppose the true par of exchange to be as above, and let us see the results.

We will first consider the effects, supposing it borrowed, lent out, and repaid in London; and looking to America only for any deficit that may require to be made upon the re-payment of the loan.

At the end of 30 years, we are to repay in London	-	$1,000,000
We receive at present, in the same place	- - -	910,000

Loss of principal in London	- - - - -	$90,000
-----------------------------	-----------	----------

But we pay interest in London on one million of dollars, at the rate of 6 per cent. per annum, which in 30 years amounts to	- - - - -	$1,800,000
---	-----------	-------------

We pay commissions on that sum at 1 per cent.	- -	18,000
---	-----	--------

We loan out in London $910,000 at 6 per cent. which in 30 years, will amount to	- - - - -	1,638,000
---	-----------	-----------

Loss of interest in London	- - - - -	$180,000
----------------------------	-----------	-----------

The loss of principal in the London market, then is	-	$ 90,000
---	---	-----------

Making the total loss of principal and interest	- -	$270,000
---	-----	-----------

This sum must be sent from America to meet the deficit, and must be bought at a premium of 9 per cent.	-	24,300
---	---	--------

Making the total loss on the loan of principal, interest } and exchange, in the London market.		$294,300
---	--	-----------

Let us now consider the effect of the loan, supposing the money to be borrowed in London, brought to New York, exchanged for American funds, there loaned out, and at the end of 30 years, re-converted into English funds, carried back to London, and there repaid, the interest being paid of course, annually, in London, with the one per cent. commission thereon.

We are to receive in London	-	-	-	-	$910,000
Add 9 per cent. exchange in New York	-	-	-	-	81,900
Making the amount received in New York	-	-	-	-	991,900
This amount being loaned at 6 per cent. in New York, will realize in interest in 30 years	-	-	-	-	1,785,420
Making the whole amount of principal and interest received in New York	-	-	-	-	$2,777,320
We have to pay in London at the end of thirty years	-	-	-	-	$1,000,000
We have to pay 30 years' interest upon this sum, amounting to	-	-	-	$1,800,000
Add 1 per cent. commission	-	-	-	18,000
					1,818,000
Making the whole of principal and interest to be paid	-	-	-	-	$2,818,000
This sum must be re-converted into English funds, and transmitted to London, at 9 per cent. exchange	-	-	-	-	253,620
Amounting in the whole, principal, interest, and exchange when remitted from New York, to London	-	-	-	-	3,071,620
Deduct from this, the principal and interest received in New York	-	-	-	-	2,777,320
And the total loss is, as before	-	-	-	-	$294,300

It will be perceived in the foregoing calculation, that no allowance is made for the loss of time, in transmitting the interest from the United States to London: nor for any of the attendant expenses, except only the commission to John Wright & Co., for paying over the interest, to-wit: one per cent. The committee have not thought it necessary to pursue their calculations with any greater minuteness: as their object is merely to ascertain, whether the contract were made in conformity with the law, requiring sales of the bonds to be made for not less than their par value.

Mr. MURPHY, of Cook, from the minority of the Committee on Finance made the following

REPORT:

The minority of the committee on finance, to whom was referred a communication from the Hon. R. M. Young, together with a copy of a contract for the disposal of Canal Bonds, to Messrs. Wright & Co., of London, beg leave to report:

Your committee are instructed to inquire whether the sale or disposal of said bonds, as per contract above referred to them, is at par value and according to the provisions of the law. The minority in examining this subject, are constrained to dissent from the views of a majority of the committee, and they submit, therefore, this report, together with the accompanying resolution for the consideration of the House. It appears from the terms of the contract, that R. M. Young deposited Canal Bonds to the amount of one million of dollars, with Wright & Co., of London, and that said Wright & Co., stipulate to pay 91 pounds sterling, in London, for every 100 pound bonds thus deposited. This rate of 91 for every hundred is by the terms of the contract made the minimum; for whatever variations may take place in the exchanges between the two countries, it is stipulated to secure 91 per cent. If the exchange be above 9 per cent. when drawn, the State is to have the benefit of the difference. In addition to this, should they be able to dispose of the bonds for more than 95 per cent. the State is entitled to one-half the excess—Wright & Co., reserving one per cent. as a commission upon every payment of interest. Such are the terms of the contract as far as they are material to the present inquiry.

It is here worthy of remark, that the whole contract is based upon the act of the 23d of February, 1839, authorizing a loan for Canal purposes, which act is embodied in the contract, and that said Wright & Co. stipulated that said loan "shall be made in all respects upon the terms and conditions, and under the limitations and restrictions prescribed in the said act;" and one of these limitations is that the bonds shall not be sold below their par value. It appears further that Wright & Co. are authorized by the contract "to effect the sale of said bonds at any price that can be reasonably obtained for the same, not being less than par, estimated either according to the then course of exchange between London and the State of Illinois, or between London and the city of New York." From these terms it is plain that the par value in the estimation of the contracting parties means no more than that we shall receive in the city of New York, a sum of money equal in amount to the bond delivered in London, and this it is believed is the standard among financiers in every country. If this be correct, one branch of the inquiry is answered; but in order more fully to elucidate the subject, the following data, taken from official sources, are submitted.

1st. That the American Eagle of the new coinage, contains 232 grains of pure gold.

2d. That the British sovereign, which is their standard, contains 113 grains, and 18.1214 parts of a grain of pure gold, which is worth according to our mint valuation, $4, 87 7-120, but passes in every kind of business for $4, 87½.

3d. That the prices current $4, 44 4 is assumed as the par of exchange on England—that is, it is equivalent to the British sovereign.

4th. Since the passage of the act of 1834, for reforming the American gold coinage and fixing its real value, the true par of exchange with England, estimating gold against gold, is above the nominal par, by 9 7-10 per cent.

To apply these data to the contract, the following calculations are submitted, premising that the true par is adopted, as contradistinguished from the fluctuating rate of exchange:

For £100 bond we receive in New York 91 pound sterling.

£91 sterling is equal at $4 87½ to $143 62½

Value of £100 at 4s 6d per dollar,	444 44.4
Received	443 62 5

This makes but about 81 cents below par on a bond of $444 44.

But add to the sum received in New York, the difference of exchange between that city and Illinois, and we get the value of this bond here—

	$443 62½
Exchange, 3 per cent.	13 30

456 92½
444 44

One million of bonds drawn for at the same rates, will make $28,082 above par in Illinois, and the whole sum received will be $1,028,082.

At the present time, exchange between Illinois and New York, is much above 3 per cent. even to 9 or 10. Were a calculation made at this rate it would increase the above amount in the same proportion, but it would not be safe to calculate on a continuance of such a great inequality longer than the present derangements in our monetary concerns shall exist. The resumption of specie payments by the banks establishing public confidence and financial tranquillity, will restore the equilibrium of exchanges to their former standard, and it is believed that 3 per cent. is a fair estimate of what may be expected to be an average rate, considering the various revulsions to which we are exposed, from the multiplicity of banks, and their operations on the various business transactions of community. In estimating the policy of creating a debt of such amount, due regard should be had to the probable condition of the State, and the whole Union, at the time of re-imbursement. Should our progress in wealth, population, and enterprize, for the next thirty years, be commensurate with the past, it will present an aspect very different from that which now darkens our horizon. Imagination can hardly pourtray the vast changes which that period will effect in our condition. Our State is unsurpassed in fertility, and the facilities for developing its yet dormant resources are unequalled. With a climate genial in the extreme, and all the advantages to be derived from the vast chains of navigable waters which encircle our borders and intersect the interior, requiring but a moderate co-operation on our part, to make it the greatest granary for bread-stuffs, and for manufactured productions of various kinds, in the whole Union. When we consider, then, the vast amount of our mineral and agricultural resources, and the population at that period, the question of making a loan to prosecute works of acknowledged importance, will be regarded in a different light from what it assumes at present. Hitherto the balance of trade, with every part of the Union, has been against us. Our lands have remained unimproved for want of markets and channels of communication, and we supported our progressive growth and importance only by emigration. May we not reasonably anticipate that in thirty years our State; as well as the whole Union, will be great exporters to the markets of the world; that instead of having the balance of trade against us, as has been the case hitherto, heavy balances of specie will be due to us in foreign countries, which may be appropriated to pay interest and principal on our loans, without the losses arising from exchanges. That such will be the case, no man can doubt, who duly estimates our resources and energies. A judicious system of improvements, therefore, calculated to afford facilities to the agriculturalist, to realize the value of his products, will give an impetus to production, stimulate enterprise, and extract latent wealth from our vast and uncultivated territory.

But it is objected that the principal and interest on this loan being made payable in Europe, great loss to the State will be incurred; and that the sale of the bonds is not at their par value. In regard to the policy of the loan, the foregoing observations are submitted, although collateral to the inquiry contained in the resolution. The following calculations will show the amount of loss sustained, estimating exchanges at the true par:

Semi-annual interest on $1,000,000 at 6 per cent.	-	-	-	30,000
Exchange at 9 7-10 per cent.	-	-	-	2,910
Exchange for 30 years	-	-	-	174,600
Exchange on $1,000,000 when paid	-	-	-	97,000
Amount of interest for 30 years	-	-	-	1,800,000
Commission on interest at 1 per cent.	-	-	-	18,000
Amount for 30 years	-	-	-	$2,089,600
Amount each year	-	-	-	$69,653

This is the amount on $1,028,082. The rate per cent. for interest, exchanges and commission, is in the same proportion, about 6 7-10.

It follows therefore, that notwithstanding the large loss to the State in the above aggregate, yet, it amounts to but a fraction above the legal rate of interest annually. To any person conversant with the state of the money market of Europe, and the vast amount of American stocks offered for sale, it will appear plain that this negotiation is as favorable as could reasonably be expected. The rate of interest in England for the past year has been as high as 7 per cent. and sometimes 10 for short periods. Under such circumstances of depression and financial embarrassment, it was hardly to be expected that our bonds could be sold unless at a ruinous sacrifice.

The sale of Canal bonds on terms so favorable must be considered at the present time as an evidence of the high estimation in which our State credit and honor are regarded abroad; but especially the security afforded by that stupendous work the Illinois, and Michigan Canal. The prosecution of that work, to its completion without intermission is of vital importance to this State, and its suspension or abandonment would involve us in damages and indemnities to contractors to a vast amount. It is evident that in order to procure funds for the prosecution of that, and other public works, we must conform to the state of the money markets of the world, in the sale of our securities; and it is equally evident that the suspension of a work of such magnitude and importance, and in such a state of forwardness as the Canal, would be productive of infinitely greater losses and evils than the trifling addition of a fraction to the legal rate of interest on loans for its prosecution.

Therefore,

Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring therein, That it is expedient and necessary for the best interests of the State to ratify the negotiation for the sale of Canal Bonds made by the Hon. R. M. Young with Wright & Co., of London.

The select committee to which was referred the memorial of James W. Singleton, of Brown county, preferring certain charges of official misconduct against the Honorable Peter Lot, Judge of the 5th Judicial circuit, of the State of Illinois, have had the same under consideration and ask leave to submit the following report:

Your select committee would here state that they acknowledge the right of every citizen, who may feel himself aggrieved by the official misconduct of any public functionary of this State, to be respectfully and patiently heard by the appropriate and constituted authority, and also the right of the accused to a speedy, fair, and impartial trial, in defence of himself against charges preferred, touching his official character and conduct. But as the present session of the General Assembly, which was assembled for the consideration of special objects of great interest to the State, is far spent, the committee believe it inexpedient to devote too much of the remaining time and attention of the session from those special objects for which it was convened. The committee believe, that the interest of the State does not warrant the extension of the present session, which would be necessary, to send for witnesses, and to give a proper examination to the charges referred to their consideration. The committee therefore believe it proper to avoid any expression of opinion in relation, either to the the accuser or the accused, involved in the charges preferred, and to permit the case to rest where it now is, until their may be more time to give it that consideration which its importance demands. The committee therefore submit for adoption the following resolution:

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1840.

House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. Webb from the joint Judiciary committee, appointed to examine into all contracts made for the sale of State Bonds on account of the Illinois and Michigan Canal, &c., made the following report, viz:

The committees on the Judiciary of the Senate and of the House of Representatives, appointed a joint committee on the part of the two Houses, (among other things,) "to examine all contracts made for the sale of State Bonds, on account of the Illinois and Michigan canal, and report whether they have been made in conformity with law, and whether the State is or is not bound thereby," REPORT:

That in the further discharge of the duty imposed upon them by the two Houses, they have given said contracts all the consideration which the amount of money involved in them, and their influence on the honor and credit of the State, demands.

Your committees are of opinion that but three of those contracts are objectionable, and require their consideration, viz: The contract made April 23, 1839, between Gen. M. M. Rawlings and the Hon. John Reynolds, agents of the State of Illinois, and John Delafield of the State of New York, which is substantially as follows: The agents sell to Delafield three hundred bonds of $1000 each, bearing interest at 6 per cent. per annum, payable half yearly at Philadelphia or New York, and the principal reimbursable at either place, at the pleasure of the State, after the year 1860; and the agents agree that the interest on the bonds shall commence from their delivery on the 10th June, 1839. Said Delafield agrees to pay for the bonds, $300,000, as follows: within fifteen days after the delivery of the bonds (say 25th June, 1839,) he will place to the credit of M. M. Rawlings, Fund Commissioner, $50,000, in the New York Banking Company, subject to be drawn for by drafts on said Banking Company, at not less than ten days sight: He will pay at New York to the State on the 1st August, 1839, $50,000, in notes of some bank or banking association of the city of New York, of a denomination not exceeding $10. And that in the manner and at the place last mentioned he will pay $50,000 on the 1st October, 1839, $50,000 on the 1st November, 1839, and the remaining $50,000 on the 1st January, 1840.

The contract made April 29, 1839, between the same agents on the part of the State of Illinois, and Thomas Dunlap, (the performance on the part of Dunlap, guaranteed by the U. S. Bank,) is substantially as follows: The agents sell to Dunlap 1,000 bonds of £225 each, interest on the bonds payable annually, at 6 per cent., and to commence on the 1st July, 1839, the bonds reimbursable on the 1st July, 1870, and both principal ("at the rate of 4s. 6d. sterling to the dollar,") and interest payable in London. Dunlap agrees to pay for the bonds $1,000,000 in ten equal instalments of $100,000, monthly; the payments to be made without interest in $10 notes, of the United States Bank; such notes to be disbursed on the Public Works of Illinois, in actual payments. The bonds were to be delivered within forty days from the date of the contract, and the first payment to be made on the delivery of the bonds. And the contract made on the 30th October, 1839, between the Hon. Richard M. Young and the Hon. John Reynolds, agents of the State of Illinois, and Messrs. John Wright & Co., of London, is substantially as follows: Messrs. Young and Reynolds delivered to Wright & Co. 1,000 bonds of £225 each, the principal payable in London in 1870, and the interest payable also in London annually, at six per cent. They authorize Wright & Co. to sell or negotiate the bonds so deposited with them at a rate not less than £91 for the £100. If more than ninety-one per cent. can be had for the bonds, the surplus not exceeding four per cent., is to be retained by Wright & Co. as commissioners; and if more than ninety-five per cent. is to be had for the bonds, the excess is to be divided between the State of Illinois and Wright & Co.; and Wright & Co. agree to advance the State of Illinois £30,000 on the bonds so deposited with them.

The law under which these contracts have been made, expressly requires that the bonds should not be sold for less than their par value, and does not authorize or contemplate that the State should be compelled to receive payment in local bank notes, or any thing else than money.

And in the opinion of your committees the law has been violated in the contract with Delafield; for it is preposterous to say that the sale has been made at par, when the State is required to pay interest from the 10th June, 1839, on the bonds sold, and does not receive the consideration money, except in instalments, payable at such distant days as to involve a loss (interest paid on the bonds) of near $5000. And is moreover bound to receive in payment the small bills of local banks or banking associations, whether such bills should be at par or not.

Your committees are constrained to say that the contract made with Dunlap (and guaranteed by the U. S. Bank) is still more objectionable, and more glaringly a departure from the letter and spirit of the law. The parties making this contract call it a sale of one million dollars of the Illinois and Michigan canal stock, and say also that the bonds are reimbursable by the State "both principal (at the rate of 4s. 6d. sterling to the dollar) and interest, payable in London." It is difficult to say why they called this a sale of one million dollars of canal stock, when it was in fact a sale of £225,000, which your committees believe and will endeavor to show, is a greater sum than one million dollars. And it is still more difficult to imagine what the agents of the State mean by that clause in the contract placed in brackets, which says, the principal shall be reimbursable ("at the rate of 4s. 6d. sterling to the dollar,") when neither that clause, nor any thing else in the contract, nor on the face of the bonds, authorize or permit the State of Illinois to pay either principal or interest, otherwise than in the legal coin of Great Britain.

To say that Illinois bonds payable in pounds sterling at London, shall be reimbursable at the rate of 4s. 6d. sterling, to the dollar, is absurd, as it does not authorize the payment to be made in dollars at any value; and in England, where dollars are only regarded as merchandize, they serve no purpose as a measure of value. It is as absurd to say that a bond for £225 may be paid in England at the rate of 4s. 6d. sterling to the dollar, as it would be to say, that a bond for $100 may be paid in Illinois at the rate of one dollar to the 4s. 6d. sterling: the maker would still have to pay £225 in the first instance, and $100 in the latter, to discharge his bond.

The assumption that the pound sterling is equal to $4 44 is not true; for although it is a money of account neither tangible nor to be weighed, (being in that respect like the mill or one tenth part of a cent in the currency of the United States,) its value is as fixed as that of any coin, and indeed is precisely the same as that of the British sovereign when the latter is of full weight. And in the opinion of your committees this contract contains within itself the elements of manifest proof that all sales of our sterling bonds, in which the £ has been arbitrarily and unnecessarily assumed to be worth but $4 44, are in barefaced violation of the law, which requires the sales should not be made under par. For instance: Our agents sold to Dunlap one thousand bonds of £225 each, by which they bound the State of Illinois to pay in London, in British coin, a sum amounting precisely to 225,000 British sovereigns. They receive on behalf of the State in return $1,000,000, in United States Bank notes.— Suppose they had immediately presented the notes at the counter of the United States Bank for redemption in specie. By a law of Congress, sovereigns are a legal tender by weight, and their value as a legal tender may be safely assumed at $4 85 each; and thus the United States Bank could have redeemed her $1,000,000 of notes, (to procure which the agents of the State of Illinois have pledged her faith to pay a sum precisely equal to 225,000 sovereigns,) with 206,185 sovereigns eleven shillings and two pence—thus realizing a gain to the bank (or Dunlap) and a loss to the State of $18,314 sovereigns eight shillings and ten pence, or $91,250 34 cents.

There are two other objections to this contract similar to those urged against the contract made with Delafield, viz: the State pays interest on the bonds from 1st July, 1839, and was not to receive a large portion of the funds which they were sold for, many months after that time, thus involving a considerable loss in interest paid on the bonds; and as if this contract were reserved to demonstrate the folly or madness of such agreements, before half the amount of the sale was realized by the State, the local bank bills in which she was bound to receive the consideration for her plighted faith, depreciated more than ten per cent.—and still the State was required to disburse these bills in actual payments to the sun-burnt laborers on her public works.

The third and last contract which your committees are bound to notice is that of the 30th October, 1839, between Messrs. Young and Reynolds, agents of the State of Illinois, and Wright & Co. of London. And your committees feel relieved from the necessity of much labor in its examination, as it has already been examined at large by a committee of the House of Representatives, and their report has been furnished for the use of members of both Houses. It is sufficient for your committees to observe here, that the contract does not purport to have been a sale; and that although the agents had authority to hypothecate the bonds, yet, when they authorized Wright & Co. to sell or negotiate the bonds at ninety-one per cent. they acted without warrant of law, and their authority was void.

Your committees cannot conclude this report without expressing their disapprobation of the manner and the terms upon which a large majority of State Bonds for internal improvement and canal purposes have been sold; and they regret that the anxiety of the State's agents to procure money for the State, or their eagerness to succeed in effecting sales where others had failed, should induce them to enter into contracts injurious to the best interests of the State, derogatory to her dignity, and in every way calculated to depreciate her securities.

Her bonds have been sold to citizens of New York, it would almost seem, for the express purpose of being used in their free banking operations, and upon such credit and such terms as permitted the payment to be made in free bank issues, based upon the bonds themselves—the State in the mean while paying interest for the privilege of furnishing the basis.

Others have been sold and the consideration agreed to be received in local bank bills, at a point so distant from their place of redemption, that they must necessarily be at a discount when received. And others have been sold so glaringly at a discount, that the miserable verbiage of "exchange," "par of exchange," "the then par of exchange," which would appear to have been used in the contracts to cover up the fact, has but poorly answered the purpose.

As the contracts with Delafield and with Dunlap are nearly completed your committees recommend for adoption the following resolutions:

Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, That we highly disapprove of those sales of the State Bonds, in which the State has been required to receive in payment local bank bills, or any funds other than the legal currency of the country; and that in an equal degree we disapprove of those sales made on a credit, in which the State has been bound to pay interest on the bonds before the receipt of the consideration for which they were sold.

Resolved, That the authority given by R. M. Young and J. Reynolds, agents of the State of Illinois, authorizing John Wright & Co. to sell or negotiate Illinois State Bonds at £91 per cent., was in direct contravention of the laws of Illinois. That said agents, in granting such authority, transcended the powers vested in them by the State, and that any such sale or negotiation will be and is void.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be directed to forward by mail a copy of the foregoing resolutions to Messrs. John Wright & Co. Bankers, Covent Garden, London.

Mr. Nance from the select committee, to whom was referred a bill for "An act to improve the navigation of the Sangamon river;" reported the same back to the House without amendment."

Mr. Dawson from the minority of the same committee, made the following report, viz:

The minority of the committee, to whom was referred a bill to improve the Navigation of the Sangamon river, make the following report:

It appears that a bill passed the General Assembly of the State of Illinois, and on the 19th January, 1829, the same was approved and became a law; which bill appropriated out of the avails of the Vermilion Saline Reserve, to the county of Sangamon, the sum of two thousand dollars, to be expended under the directions of the County Commissioners of said county, to improve the navigation of the Sangamon river.

The Commissioners being apprised that the sum of two thousand dollars would do but little to effect so great a work, applied the same to the ordinary expenses of the county, which then embraced the counties of Menard, Logan and Dane, as a part of old Sangamon. The minority of the Committee hesitate not in saying, that the aforesaid appropriations have been diverted from its legitimate object; still there is some doubt, whether or not it has not been more advantageously applied than it would have been even had the Commissioners applied the money as contemplated by law. The minority of the Committee think they are fully justified in this position by the large expenditures which has been made on similar rivers by the State, from which little or no good has resulted, except the expending of large sums of money in their immediate neighborhoods.

The minority, desirous as they may be to see the navigation of the Sangamon river improved, are bound to come to the conclusion, (if experience teaches any thing,) that it would be worse than useless to attempt to improve the navigation of the Sangamon river with the sum of two thousand dollars. The minority of the Committee are of the opinion, that the time is not far distant, when the improving of the rivers within this State will be an object of the first importance to the people of the State. Entertaining this opinion, they have come to the conclusion that it would be unwise to squander the small sum of two thousand dollars in so great a work as is contemplated in the aforesaid bill. If the minority of the committee entertain a correct opinion, that the State will improve her rivers, and that at no distant day, they also entertain the opinion, that the sum above named had better remain where it now is, among the people of the aforesaid counties. The minority of said committee are of the opinion, that it would be unequal and unjust to compel the present county of Sangamon to pay the whole amount of the above appropriation, when the same was expended for their common benefit. The minority entertain the opinion, whenever the money can be properly expended, it should be raised from among the said counties, in the same proportion as the State School fund was divided at the present session among them. The minority are fully advised, that when a division of the county of Sangamon took place, there was a large debt hanging over the county, which in a great degree was created by the liberal appropriations made by the County Court of Sangamon, to those portions of her territory which now comprise the three new counties, which debt the mother county has made provisions to pay entirely from her own resources.

In conclusion, the minority of the committee recommend the rejection of the bill.

The question was then taken on ordering the bill to be engrossed for a third reading, and decided in the negative by yeas and nays as follows, viz:

Those who voted in the affirmative, are,

Messrs. Allen of Greene, Brown, Carpenter, Crain, Ficklin, Fisk, Foster, Green of Greene, Hankins, Happy, Henry, Holmes, Houston, Huey, Maus, Moore, Murphy of Perry, Nance, Robert Smith, Walker of Vermillion, Zimmerman, and Mr. Speaker—21.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1840.

The House met pursuant to adjournment.

Mr. Cloud, from the committee on Canals and Canal Lands, reported back to the House sundry documents and papers, which had been referred to said committee; and was discharged from the further consideration thereof.

A message from the Council of Revision, by Mr. Hubbard, their Secretary.

Mr. Speaker: The Council of Revision have directed me to inform the House that they have approved, of the passage of bills of the following titles, to wit:

“An act to authorize the Board of Public Works to audit and settle the accounts of Edward Smith, deceased;”

“An act to incorporate the Sangamon Coal Bank Bridge Company;”

“An act supplemental to an act to authorize and require the School Commissioner of Sangamon county to pay over certain school funds to the School Commissioners of Menard, Logan and Dane counties;”

“An act to incorporate the town of Jacksonville, and for other purposes;”

“An act concerning the revenue in Clay county;”

“An act to incorporate the Springfield Mechanics’ Union;”

“An act to locate a State road in the county of Washington;”

“An act to legalize the acts of the Commissioners of Champaign county;”

“An act concerning the Little Wabash river;”

“An act to amend the several laws in relation to appeals;”

“An act regulating the time of holding the court in the counties of Clinton and Bond.”

They have also directed me to return an act of the following title, to wit:

“An act for the relief of certain securities therein named;” with their objections as follows:

The Council of Revision having had under consideration the bill entitled “An act for the relief of certain securities therein named,” return the same, as improper to become a law, because they consider the first section of the act, which authorizes the release of the securities of the Sheriff upon giving notice, is retrospective in its operation, and discharges the securities from all previous liabilities, and is dependent on the single act of notification alone. The effect of this section is, also, to leave the Sheriff during the interval created by the release of the securities, to the full exercise of the duties of his office, without any bond being giving until the time specified in the 2d section, and until he shall comply with the requisition of the 2d section. The effect of this act would necessarily be, to subject all suitors to the peril of loss, by the acts of the Sheriff, during such interval, if the Sheriff should misbehave.

We cannot presume that these consequences were anticipated at the time of the passage of the act, and therefore express our dissent to it.

COUNCIL CHAMBER, February 3d, 1840.

A bill for "An act concerning the Little Wabash river;"

A bill for "An act supplementary to an act to authorize and require the School Commissioner of Sangamon county to pay over certain school funds to the School Commissioners of Menard, Logan and Dane counties;"

A bill for "An act to incorporate the town of Jacksonville and for other purposes;"

A bill for "An act regulating the time of holding the court in the counties of Clinton and Bond;"

A bill for "An act to amend the several laws in relation to appeals."

diciary, reported back to the House sundry bills and resolutions, which had been referred to said committee; which was discharged from the further consideration of the same.

"The committee on State Roads, to which was referred a petition of many citizens, for an alteration of a State road from Gillead to Rushville, and a remonstrance, report: that they have examined the subject, and find a majority on the remonstrance, and are of opinion that the alteration asked for, should not be granted, and ask to be discharged from the further consideration of the subject.

The committee having a petition for an alteration of the road from Darwin to Auburn, and from York to Martinsville, and a remonstrance and many other petitions relating to roads, on examination. find that notice under the law of last session had not been given, of the intention to apply for such roads and alterations; and believing that the requisition of said law should be adhered to, report unfavorably to the petitioners, on the several petitions now returned, and ask leave to be discharged from the further consideration of the same;" which was agreed to.
